

Dr. Dietmar Barkusky

Professional experience

Since 2018	Leibniz Centre for Agricultural Landscape Research Müncheberg, Experimental Infrastructure Platform Head of the Working Group: Experimental Station Müncheberg
1999 - 2017	Leibniz Centre for Agricultural Landscape Research Müncheberg, Research Station Müncheberg Applied agronomic and plant cultivation research in field experiments, including on-farm research
1994-1996	Environmental Agency Land Brandenburg, landscape planning Reviewer in landscape planning
1993-1994	agroconsult dresden GmbH Agricultural structure planning and landscape planning
1983-1993	Research Centre for Soil Fertility Müncheberg/ Leibniz Centre for Agricultural Landscape Research Agronomic and plant cultivation research for soil conservation Particularly conservation tillage

Education

1987	Academy of Agricultural Science Berlin Doctors degree in agricultural engineering Subject of doctors dissertation: „Measures to reduce water erosion on sandy soils in the young moraine area of the GDR”
1978-1983	Agronomy University „K.A.Timirjasew“ Moscow Agronomy study, discipline „Plant nutrition and soil science“